Personalized
 Learning

Adapted from reDesign's Features & Benefits of a Competency-Based Learning System

Competency-based learning is an approach to education that focuses on the student's demonstration of desired learning outcomes as central to the learning process. It is concerned chiefly with a student's progression through curriculum at their own pace, depth, etc. As competencies are proven, students continue to progress. It is similar to mastery-based learning, with the primary difference being that competency-based learning often focuses observable skills or 'competencies,' while mastery learning may be academic—as likely to focus on concepts as skills. Like most things education-related, there is disagreement of what competency-based learning actually means, what its defining traits are, and how it should ideally be used or function. It is traditionally thought of in terms of skills and vocation, but it can be entirely "academic" as well.
