ABOUT THE ICES-2023

New Vistas in Waste Management and Sustainable Environment

In the quest for a sustainable future, waste management has emerged as a critical frontier where innovation and environmental responsibility intersect. As the global population continues to burgeon, so does the volume of waste generated. Traditional waste disposal methods are no longer adequate, and the imperative to adopt sustainable practices is now more pressing than ever. The conference on "New Vistas in Waste Management and Sustainable Environment" endeavors to explore and illuminate the multifaceted landscape of waste management, unveiling innovative strategies, technologies, and policies that promise to shape a more sustainable future.
